

COMIC OPERETTA "BARTERED BRIDE" IS BENEFIT FOR PALSY HANDICAPPED

As a benefit for a most worthy cause to assist those stricken with cerebral palsy, the City Recreation Department will present the colorful operetta, "The Bartered Bride," in the Balboa Park Bowl August 28th and 29th.

According to Mrs. Douglas H. Harritt, ticket chairman for the Cerebral Palsy Foundation, tickets will go on sale in Lemon Grove this week under the direction of Mrs. Alice Yager, 2001 Noble Street, H6-1762. Ticket headquarters here will be at the Review Office, Mrs. Yager said.

Cerebral Palsy is no respecter of persons. It can strike the homes of rich and poor alike. Every child is entitled to an opportunity to develop to the fullest extent, whatever his situation may be.

You can help further the Cerebral Palsy Foundation's work in San Diego by securing a ticket for the "Bartered Bride." Your donation will help a less fortunate child find his place in society.

The comic operetta will include the 60-voice junior civic chorus, the youth symphony orchestra of 60 talented young musicians and the junior civic ballet of 40 dancers.

By Beverly Henderson

Donovan Maley came to Lemon Grove six years ago from San Diego. He is sixteen years of age, blonde, blue-eyed, and six feet tall. Most of you know him as a talented artist but few know that he is a good pianist as well. Besides art and music, his spare time is spent swimming and deer-craft work.

Donovan has won several awards in art and will have the honor of being the Art Editor of the school paper in his senior year at Helix High.

Donovan and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Maley, reside at 2950 Cypress St. in Lemon Grove. Donovan will attend State College after graduation and major in music and art. His greatest ambition is "to be a background artist at Walt Disney Studios."

Pullet Derby On At Mason's

A race for the nest will get under way at the Mason's Feed Store, 8280 Imperial, it was announced this week by Leland Whitted, the manager.

The "race," as Whitted explained it, will actually be a feeding demonstration using laying hens and all folks in this community are being invited to participate in it. Each of eight pullets have been given a name for identification and the first pullet to lay an egg will "win the race."

During the "race," the folks will be given the opportunity to judge the pullets and from that, indicate which pullet will be the first to produce an egg.

Youngsters In S. V. Accident

An auto carrying three teenagers last week failed to make a curve in a night accident on Imperial Ave. in the 8500 block, in Spring Valley, raced through a service station lot, smashed a sign, crashed into a parked car and finally came to rest against a tree.

The three youths, who were taken to La Mesa Hospital for emergency treatment, were Bernard M. Hansen, 18, of 1318 K Ave., National City, the driver; James W. Kennedy, 17, of 3053 B St., and Louis Silva, 19, of 704 Fifty-ninth St.

During the time the pullets are being fed for growth, they will be fed Purina Growena.

"Normally, the pullets can be expected to go into production when they are twenty weeks old," Whitted said. "The growing ration fed the pullets has been developed over a period of many years by Purina Research. It is designed to give the pullets the condition necessary for a long and profitable egg production."

Van Deerlin Proposes Joint Schedules

A proposal to use the "South Carolina system" of political campaigning in California's new 28th District has been made by the Democratic nominee for Congress.

Lionel Van Deerlin, Democratic party choice for the Orange-San Diego counties seat in Congress, made the proposal in a letter to his Republican opponent, James B. Utt of Santa Ana.

Under the South Carolina plan, candidates for the same office appear at all meetings together, after working out a joint schedule. Van Deerlin pointed out in his letter that he is not seeking to debate with his opponent, but wants voters to have an opportunity to hear both candidates on the issues of 1952.

Van Deerlin proposed that Utt accept no invitations to appear as a candidate unless both men were invited, and promised he would address no audience which failed to accord his Republican rival the same privilege.

"I want to reach as many people in both parties as I can, as well as the thousands of independent voters who cast their ballots for the man himself, not the straight party ticket," Van Deerlin explained. "I know that most Republicans are eager to hear the other side before making up their minds—and I certainly am not afraid to let my Democratic friends hear the Republican arguments."

S. V. Sower Election Set

County supervisors set Sept. 16 as the date for an election on formation of the proposed Spring Valley Sanitation District.

Proprietary to calling the election, the supervisors established boundaries of the district as they were outlined several weeks ago in a resolution of intention to put the question to a vote. This action invited any requests for property adjustments from the proposal.

Bertram McLees, Jr., deputy county counsel, informed the board here are 448 registered voters in the district and that in earlier hearings on the proposal, 248 had objected.

All registered voters in the district will be eligible to vote. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. A simple majority is necessary to carry the proposal McLees said.

Lost Flyer From Grove

W. W. Hoffman, a Lemon Grove man, was one of those lost in the crash of a B36 Tuesday.

A flight engineer with Convair, Hoffman resided at 3229 Ascania Street with his wife, Dot and two children. His wife is a member of the LG Junior Women's Club.

IDAHO'S PANHANDLE BECKONS SUMMER VISITORS

High in the panhandle of Idaho is one of the Pacific Northwest's most unspoiled recreation areas—Priest Lake and the pine-covered mountains that surround it. It's an area with a variety of appeal. Comfort lovers can choose between rustic lodges and luxury resorts, fishermen can try their luck in a host of lakes and streams, explorers will find hiking or horseback trails and an exciting network of secondary roads. Old Anvil Rock, near Harrison Lake, is a tough, eight-mile climb, but it rewards the climber with a bird's-eye view of the Selkirk mountains. It's a two-day trip from Lemon Grove.

No written test is required. Applicants will be rated on the basis of experience and training relevant to the duties of the position. From four to six years experience is required depending upon the grade of the position for which application is made.

Age limits, 18 to 62 years, are waived for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Ticket Sale For Youth Center Dance Is 'Good'

Tickets are being sold by many Grove merchants for the first Youth Center dance to be held Saturday. In connection with the ticket sales, door prizes awards will be made. It is not necessary to attend the dance in order to qualify for prizes.

Officials for the dance fund said that tickets are going at a "good clip."

L. M. Girl Sent to Tehachapi

Trafficking in narcotics will cost Carol Mollie, 18, of La Mesa from one to six years in prison. She was committed to Tehachapi prison for women yesterday by Judge Dean Sherry.

She had been charged with possession of marijuana and a derivative of opium, but evidence showed, the judge was informed, that she also was selling drugs, and that one of her customers was a 17-year-old girl.

Miss Mollie, who resided at 4018 Olive Ave., La Mesa, was released by the California Youth Authority last November and since then she was employed in an aircraft factory. Her arrest was made by San Diego police July 10.

Republicans To View Water Movie

"The Fallbrook Story" movie of the Fallbrook water controversy, will be shown Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Fallbrook Masonic Hall by the Republican Women's Club. There will be no admission

Opening ceremonies will be started Friday at the new home of the Lemon Grove Department Store at 7846 Broadway, opposite Piggly Wiggly.

The opening is being held just 63 days after the first spadeful of dirt was turned to break ground for the building which is something of a record for a building of its size, according to Dick Paden, proprietor of the firm. The structure was built by John Casteel.

According to Paden, more than $200,000 in merchandise prizes will be distributed during the opening. Tickets will be given to all visitors and winning numbers will be announced next week.

All new fall merchandise has been purchased for the new store the owners reported. Emphasis has been placed on school clothes and regulation gym clothes.

Formerly located two blocks east of the new store, need for a larger area was dictated by a rapidly increased volume during the two years of operation, Paden said.

"With Lemon Grove growing so fast, the need for a modern, fully stocked store such as our new one has been recognized for several months."

"I feel that the Grove has not even approached its eventual size. We have hopes to expand again, when necessary," he said.

The store will stock nationally known brands including Mark Twain shirts for men, Iron wear hose for women, Rens sports wear, Polly Parrot and Seambro shoes for women and children and Endicott Johnson shoes for men and boys.

New, modern fixtures and display cases are being installed for easier shopping. Plate glass the entire width of the store lends light to the entire floor area.

Prize tickets will be given Friday and Saturday and the store will be open daily from then on.

Ralph L. Clark is co-owner of the store.

New Fireman Named to Force

Fred M. Dixon was named permanent member of the Grove Fire Department this week at a meeting held by Ray Comodry, chief, Dixon and wife Lorene reside at 7215 Central Ave. They have a daughter, Ruth Annette, age 3.

Resting up from a month's vocal exercise, the two service teams who are to meet in Sunday's double baseball game claim all athletes are in fine fettle.

The game is between the Larruppin' Lions and the Kiwanis Kilts and scheduled to get underway at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Grove School baseball grounds.

Originally scheduled for an hour later, the management of both teams decided to start at the earlier hour so that a few "outs" might be made by dark.

John Dail, major domo of the Kiwanian aggregation, is keeping his line-up secret until starting hour. Most of the Lions were reportedly out of the city and not available for a report.

The game is open to the public and no charge is being made for admission.

Plant Inspectors For Border Stations Sought By State

Inspectors are needed to fill vacancies at California borders to check automobiles for agricultural pests and contraband plant material, the State Personnel Board said today. A civil service examination has been set with a final filing date of August 23. The year of California residence usually required of state job applicants has been waived.

Junior plant quarantine inspectors receive $295 to $385 a month. One season of agricultural inspection work and high school graduation will qualify candidates for the examination. Specialized study or additional experience may be substituted for the basic requirements.

Accuracy Desired In Reporting Fires

A plea for fire reporting accuracy was made this week by local firemen. Not only is it important to report the fire quickly, but an accurate description of the location must also be given.

Recently, firemen said, several fires in the Monterey Heights area were reported in such a vague and confused manner that valuable moments were lost.

Give the exact street and the approximate street number and save valuable property, and perhaps lives, is the plea of the fire fighters.

Record Breaking Opening For McMahan's

"It was an unprecedented opening," reported officials of McMahan's Furniture as they returned from a week-end of rest following one of the biggest and successful openings they have ever held.

"We ran completely out of bud vases," said manager Bud Stewart. "We replaced these with plastic aprons and when the aprons ran out we started giving plates away."

He also said that such a volume indicated that the need for McMahan's type operation was even greater than they had thought.

"It means we'll have to carry a much larger inventory than originally planned. However, a larger inventory means a better selection."

More than 5,000 persons attended the opening Stewart estimates. They ate 8 huge cakes, drank gallons of coffee and was entertained by Monte Hall, famed KFMB-TV cowboy star. Kids were given yo-yos.

Hall was in charge of the grand drawing for a score of prizes. The range went to Helen Fedigo, 3700 Sinclair Street and F. O. Conner, 3972 Vista Grande won the television set. Ticket numbers which won other pieces of merchandise are as follows: 949; 951; 917; 870; 930; 977; 962; 642; 1223; 624; 556; 1505; 197; 872; 1515; 1662; 468; and 409. Holders of these tickets may claim their prizes by presenting them at the Lemon Grove store.

In the meanwhile McMahan's officials jumped with both feet into their annual August clearance. This is traditionally the big mark-down event of the summer season.

Govt. Service To Recognize "Top" Personnel

Three top Federal employees of this district will be named "men of the year" in a Federal Business Association Awards program designed to name top "administrator," "staff man" and "employee" of the year.

Names of these employees will be given in subsequent federal news releases according to an informative bulletin concerning the Federal Association Award Program.

Citations, cash awards and with-in-grade pay increases will be partial recognition of outstanding contributions and accomplishments by the Federal Association.

Annual 1c Paint Sale For Russell's

A one cent sale of Boyesen paint products will be an August feature at Russell's 7920 Broadway. Purchase of a quart of Boyesen True-Life enamel or a quart of Interior Gloss at $1.69 a quart entitles the purchaser to an additional quart for only one cent. The sale marks the 20th anniversary of the annual 1c sale developed by the manufacturing firm.

The sale runs from August 20th to August 30th.

Who's Who in Lemon Grove

Every community has its "Scattergood Baines," the fictional character who dispenses good will, sage advice and a stinky, helping hand has a counterpart in Lemon Grove's senior citizen, George W. Casteel.

Casteel has a tremendous faith in Lemon Grove. He has tremendous faith in the community's youth. He, as much as anyone, has given the Grove shape and character.

In the days before business houses and California style residences filled in the citrus groves, he had a plan in mind. He saw a thriving metropolis with wide streets and parking facilities. He also saw a selected group of business firms who would be a credit to the town. Even then he was referred to as the "Lemon Grove Planning Commissioner."

In those days, as now, he states firmly that a businessman has a better chance for success in Lemon Grove than anywhere in the country. It can be reduced to a simple formula, he says. "The right thing for the community, operated properly will pay lifetime dividends," he states.

The youth of the community is a problem of the area's growth he believes. An outlet for the energy of the youngsters, directing their minds and efforts for a better eventual adult citizenry is a real and pressing need. This, too, requires planning far beyond the stage of growth we have now reached, he says.

Deeply interested in people, George and his wife Alta, enjoy traveling. During the past twelve months they have driven a every state in the country and 15 state capitols. "I guess that I've finally found my hobby—driving," he chuckles.

He and Alta occupy the same house on Central Avenue they lived in when they came here from Montana 25 years ago. He occupies the same real estate office he started his present business in. It is strange that the man who changes so little can promote so many changes in the community.

While it is axiomatic that "early settlers" resist incorporation when a community reaches the size that this decision must be made, this is not so with George. He has extended his thinking a step beyond this.

"I think we should consider taking in Spring Valley if we incorporate. Why, that'll give us the third largest town in the county. Naturally, we should explore every possibility with all the information available to decide what it best for the most people and if incorporation is indicated, we should consider Spring Valley in the picture."

"A good thing," he continues, "is that a growing town and new blood means additional helpers. That lightens the load on everybody. When I came here there were hardly a dozen business firms. All of us struggled to get other firms interested locally. With so many able business people in the Grove now we can have any kind of community we want."

"I was thinking about Broadway," he said, "while we were on that trip last month." With that he pulled out a road map of the United States on which the routes he had covered during the past year are marked out in var-colored crayon. Then he broke into a chuckle.

"Never mind what I was thinking about," he grinned. "At least they can't call a guy an old fogey when he has driven as far as I in a year's time."

change and the public is invited. Ed. Bolen and James Utt, Republican candidates for office will speak at the affair.

Inside Goodwin

by Max Goodwin

The all-time record for truck transport overloading, set by an Emeryville concern — two trucks carrying 16½ tons of excess freight between them — came up for disposal recently in the city court of Judge Fred Schaffer of Kingsburg.

The judge promptly set a record of his own — levying a fine of $1500, highest to date and the maximum allowable under the law.

In throwing the book at these violators, the judge did all within his power to discourage the ruinous practice of illegal overloading, and he rates the gratitude of motorists whose tax-built highways are being wrecked faster than engineering and money can rebuild them.

All that the police authorities and the most public-spirited judges may do, however, can be but a negative and, in the main, powerless attack on the basic problem. From R. H. Baldock, State highway engineer of neighboring Oregon, comes a concise and intelligent appraisal of the fundamental situation. His State recently enacted a ton-mile tax structure for commercial highway users, as a step toward equalizing the tax burden between motorists and light-truck operators, on the one hand, and heavy commercial vehicle operators on the other hand. But he adds:

"The cost of the type of roads and bridges needed for automobile traffic alone is the measure of cost responsibility of the private passenger car owners. The cost of providing wider and stronger roads and bridges needed for larger and heavier vehicles is the measure of the cost responsibility of the truck owners."

That viewpoint is constructive, is equitable, and is just to all highway users, whether their purpose be pleasure or profit. In time, it would surely seem, it must prevail.

DALE CARNEGIE

Crop of Experience

CARL W. KOUBA, Green Bay, Wis., for the first time in 20 years was to be out of a job. He had worked up to treasurer of the company, and because the business had been sold he was to find that these 20 years of progress in the company had terminated.

He was alone in the general office late one afternoon and had just made some of the final entries so that the business could be turned over in the morning. As he switched off the lights and turned the key in the door for the last time, he came face to face with the old night-watchman, George Bogue. He too was making "the final round" but he had a smile on his face—and he noticed that Carl didn't as he said, "Well George, this is it." And then George answered him with something he says he will never forget. As a matter of fact, it is something for all of us to remember. "Carl," said the older man, "you have been planting your crop for 20 years. If you planted a good crop you will find a lot of people wanting to buy your harvest. There should be lots of people wanting to buy the things that you have been growing. You just have to tell them about it."

Carl says he found George Bogue was right. It became a real pleasure to think of offering the harvest of 20 years for sale—and not just for looking for a job. And it worked. He sat down and wrote out what he had been planting; then he got out and told of the kind of a crop he had to offer.

In that one minute after midnight he learned a valuable truth. In selling your crop of experience, if it is good there will be a lot of people looking for it.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Despite bitter opposition, independent business again has the protection of fair trade laws. The bill enacted by Congress replaces a previous law knocked out by Supreme Court decision.

Because a barrage of propaganda was unleashed against fair trade laws, it is well to review the purpose of such a law.

Fair trade laws do not set prices on commodities, only on specific brands. Under the new law, a manufacturer must enter into the fair price agreements with retailers in each state. The fair trade price is then established for the state.

Opposition argued fair trade prices create pegged prices. This claim is erroneous, misleading.

Consider waffle irons, for example. The manufacturers of the Super Waffle Iron know they only have one chance of surviving in a field flooded with cheap waffle irons made both at home and abroad.

Their one chance to survive without cheapening their quality is to rely on independent stores throughout the nation who have reputations for standing behind their merchandise.

But huge merchandising combines, controlled by vast financial interests, look at waffle irons differently.

First of all, if they can sell the Super Waffle Iron at a loss, they can attract throngs of customers who will also buy other merchandise priced at a profit. At the same time, the independent merchant, with limited capital, cannot take the losses to compete. Independent competition is forced out.

But the effect is even more far-reaching. The huge merchandising combines also want the manufacturing profit, make and put in their stores an imitation of the Super Waffle Iron of cheaper quality at a cheaper price, but because of the cheap quality, the cheap price yields a greater profit.

But people generally demand brands they recognize as the best quality. Therefore, if the merchandising combine is to sell its own brand in volume, the Super brand must disappear from the market place.

By making it impossible for independent merchants to sell the Super Waffle Iron at a loss, the brand disappears from the market, leaving the field open to the cheaper quality house brand.

With this new law, Super Waffle Irons still have price competition. Waffle irons, as a commodity, are not fair traded, just specific brands whose makers feel the product quality is such that the public is willing to pay for that extra quality. If the consumer wants to buy a cheaper brand, there is no law in the world to prevent her from doing so.

The fight to restore fair trade laws to the nation was a bitter one. At times it was even confusing due to the erroneous propaganda spread against the measure. But by organized effort of independent businessmen at all levels, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, the battle was won.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. Max Goodwin

Lemon Grove Review
Dear Mr. Goodwin:
I would like to take this means to thank you and all the Lemon Grove people for financial and moral support in the Sixth Annual All Women Transcontinental Air Race.

It was indeed an inspiration to all of you were pulling for me and to know that in spite of the fact that I failed to win you planned a wonderful reception for Betty and me at Gillespie Airfield and at Lemon Grove.

I have received messages from all over the country, and from Tokyo and Johnston Island, congratulating me on arriving at Teterboro first, so I can not feel that my effort was in vain.

Again I want to reiterate "thank you" and hope that in a small way I have been able to repay all of you for your generosity.

Sincerely,
Isabelle G. McGrae

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Lella McDaniel, Murray, Ky.: I remember when before putting the carpet on the floor, we put a layer of thin wheat straw on the floor first and then put the carpet down and tacked it all around the edges.

From Flora Dietrich, El Paso, Texas: I remember taking my poll and going out in the fields along the fields along the old rail fences to pick wild strawberries, which my mother made into delicious jam.

From Mrs. Marie Nance, Orange City, Fla.: I am 63 years old. I remember when I was a girl that I gave me 15 cents with which I went to buy at the market a loaf of bread for five cents and two pounds of beef liver for supper for a family of six.

From Mrs. Mary E. O'Dell, Saginaw, Wash.: I remember when we had straw ticks to climb into every fall. They were washed and filled with good oat straw. You nearly never saw a ladder to get into bed, as our feather ticks were on top of the straw ones.

From Mary Karch, Lakeview, Ore.: I remember kind making just. We would invite the neighbors to help. There was a clean space between the cabbage and a water barrel with stumps. We children were handed dishes of juicy apples as a treat.

By LYLE HULL

A DEMOCRATIC SENATOR was reported to have remarked that Eisenhower would be the easiest candidate to beat, because he knew nothing of politics.

This column disagrees. It acknowledges that the two terrible world wars have lowered human intelligence and morale to an alarming degree, but it believes that there are still enough of those commodities left in the country to create the desire to eliminate politicians from politics.

Now at long last we have a candidate who is unencumbered by the myriads of obligations in which the professional politician is enmeshed here is a man who, if elected, can appoint as his helpers just about any whom he believes capable, and not be compelled by party politics to name Senator Zwick or Representative Belch, or even Mr. Snooks to serve in his cabinet or in any other position.

It is a well known fact that Eisenhower is a clever picker of helpers and one who will not tolerate inefficiency or lack of fidelity. Add to this quality the facts as stated above, and there is every reason to believe that these who are chosen to advise will be the best brains in this nation, whether they be Republicans or Democrats—and by Democrats we don't mean New Dealers. Consider the "brains" with which Mr. Truman has surrounded himself and realize what a change will mean.

Incidentally, why does a politician believe himself more capable than a soldier, a businessman, a lawyer or anyone else. The general opinion is that he is "anything but!" We have had a 20 year demonstration of what real politicians can do to a nation, and very frankly we the people would happily try something else. May be with a soldier President we can keep out of war. Maybe with a higher caliber of officials in Washington, the men who wouldn't serve Truman will serve Eisenhower. And our deteriorating economy will be placed into the hands of men who know what the word means.

BATTLE JOINED

GOP, Democrats Are Setting Stage For Free-Swinging Campaigns

As the Democrats this week paraded their big-name leaders before their lusty national convention in Chicago in a full-blown attempt to match or better the resounding antics of a vigorous, free-swinging election campaign in the interval between now and November 4.

The party of Roosevelt and gloomily at the mere mention last month of the name Eisenhower, took new heart and hope for an election victory after the internal warfare that struck the Republicans in their convention.

For a good deal of Eisenhower's edge had been chipped away in the course of the week-long battle that resulted in his receiving the convention floor. They told the story, and it is the more remarkable because there were only four ballots cast from Monday July 7, to Friday.

It was shortly after the opening session had begun that the Eisenhower camp defeated the Taftite on the "Fair Play" amendment by a roll call vote of 658 to 548. The action barred all contested delegates in the convention from voting on anything until they were finally and officially seated, but it also permitted the seating of those who had been placed on the temporary roll by a two-thirds vote of the national committee.

That automatically narrowed the much-heralded contests down to Texas, Georgia, and part of Louisiana, and sent the convention's credentials committee into a ragged 15-hour session which held up general proceedings a full day.

Like Floor Victory
The pattern was set, and the following day the convention voted 607 to 531 to reconstitute the credentials committee which had recommended seating the solidly pro-Taft 17-member Georgia delegation. After that the Taft forces moved to seat the pro-Eisenhower delegation from Texas in order to avoid another roll call defeat.

By that time, Eisenhower and his cohorts—Sen. John C. Lodge, Governor Dewey of New York, Paul Hoffman, and Herb Brownell—were convinced they had the nomination in the bag. That they were right became increasingly apparent at the end of the first ballot to nominate a presidential candidate Friday afternoon. Minnesota will be remembered for a long time as having administered the coup de grace. Eisenhower's announcement of "floor" that the state would change its 12 Senate votes in support of Eisenhower.

That gave the general 614 votes and put him in. Only 604 votes—simple majority of the 1,208 delegates—were required for nomination.

After that the states rushed hysterically to get on the bandwagon screaming for the attention of Chairman Joe Martin so that could get their votes off to a change to Eisenhower.

Final tabulation when the roll closed was Eisenhower, Taft 280, Warren 77, MacArthur 10.

Move for Unanimity
The move for the selected Eisenhower by acclamation, by Sen. John Bricker of Ohio, its approval by the delegates a rather week-necked affair after the bone-shaking drama of the first ballot.

There were other great moments in the convention—MacArthur's stirring keynote address, the overwhelming demonstration of support for Sen. John Bricker's bill and Everett Dirksen's brilliant attack on DeLoach by that historic Friday noon, July 11, they all seemed in comparison to the first ballot for the presidential nomination.

The Democrats this week had all that to think over, is almost certain that the week events at the GOP meeting have a strong effect on the decision of the Democratic Old Guard session of the party. And, as one of the original investigators of Alger Hiss while a member of the house un-American affairs committee, he can play a leading role in the anti-Communist campaign strategy.

Nevertheless, the convention strife had cut deeply into party harmony. For the Republicans really whipped it up in a series of bitter floor battles and behind-the-scenes maneuvers.

It was no "smoke-filled room" convention. To be sure, there were promises and counter-promises and deals within deals; but the Eisenhower forces chose the battleground most favorable to them—the teeming, destiny-struck convention floor.

First Session Drama
Taft's convention machinery was well-oiled when Gov. Gabrielsen's gavel pounded down on the opening session, but from that point on it seemed to get more and more gummed up as the convention moved ahead.

The son got into the Taft gears as a result of three ballots on the

DWIGHT EISENHOWER

GOP presidential nomination instead of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The general of the army who led the World War II allies to victory in Germany and who did a magnificent job of organizing Western Europe's military and economic forces to implement the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been substituted by the fact that citizen Dwight D. Eisenhower is now a man running for American political office.

Not a Disadvantage
Yet Eisenhower's descent from the white charger upon which he returned from Europe last June is not necessarily a disadvantage to the Republicans.

He, with his running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, now is a determined, hard-fighting political reality, and the Democrats who convened in Chicago's International Amphitheatre this week were aware that they had plenty of work cut out for them.

Despite the deep-seated schism between the Taft and Eisenhower factions that had developed during the spectacular course of the GOP convention, the two sides lost no time in starting to bridge the gap once the show was over and the decision was made.

Senator Taft, still the Mr. Republican of the U. S. senate, pledged his complete support to Eisenhower's campaign and promised also to back him in the senate.

Eisenhower, in his acceptance speech, stressed the unity theme.

"This is not a job for any one of us or for just a few of us. It will take the best in all of us," he said.

Nixon Selected
The selection as vice-presidential nominee of 39-year-old Senator Nixon, although not a compromise move, can be regarded as another step toward unification of the Republican party. He is from California, which gives a cross-continent flavor to the ticket. He has had friendly relations with Senator Taft and other members of the so-called Old Guard session of the party. And, as one of the original investigators of Alger Hiss while a member of the house un-American affairs committee, he can play a leading role in the anti-Communist campaign strategy.

Nevertheless, the convention strife had cut deeply into party harmony. For the Republicans really whipped it up in a series of bitter floor battles and behind-the-scenes maneuvers.

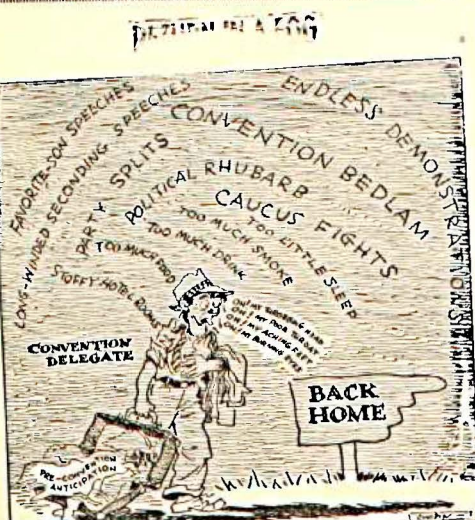

It was no "smoke-filled room" convention. To be sure, there were promises and counter-promises and deals within deals; but the Eisenhower forces chose the battleground most favorable to them—the teeming, destiny-struck convention floor.

First Session Drama
Taft's convention machinery was well-oiled when Gov. Gabrielsen's gavel pounded down on the opening session, but from that point on it seemed to get more and more gummed up as the convention moved ahead.

The son got into the Taft gears as a result of three ballots on the HALFWAY down the mountain, Sheila halted her roadster. There was no apparent reason for it. Ahead, the road, which was really nothing more than a rutted alley, sloped gently downward.

Night was coming on. Before she could reach the foot of the mountain it would be full dark, with no moon. It wasn't a very inviting prospect, but still she did not release the brake.

It was something Sheila had thought of that had caused her to stop. She was wondering whether or not she could leave Rodney forever, as she'd told him she was doing a half hour ago. She was wondering if she could ever bear the going of not seeing him.

Today marked the third advent of Sheila into the mountain fastnesses where Rodney had a cabin, and where he lived, strangely contented with life. Contented! It puzzled her, this contentment. It angered her to think she loved him.

In the first place he was different. He came from mountain stock, and inherited all the soft gentleness that was characteristic of his people. There was something about the way he looked at her, the sound of his voice, the touch of his hand, that drew her irresistibly. On more than one occasion she cursed the day when at that college prom Rodney had bowed gravely and asked her to dance.

That was the beginning. From that moment until the day following graduation she had been happy. If course she had no way of suspecting that he was going back into the mountains to live. He was rich, she knew, as everyone knew, that he Colburns had title to coal fields. He was intelligent, well educated, well mannered.

Today, for the third time, Sheila had gone up there, trying to understand. One thing troubled her, Rodney, though she was sure of the depth and sincerity of his love, was not willing to sacrifice his life in the hills in order to possess her.

Two big lives rolled unheeded down either side of Sheila's nose. For one mad second the thought of going on, of putting it all behind, of leaving him forever, possessed her.

If only she thought with an absurd little laugh, it could be arranged so that she could come and go as she liked, after they were married. If only she didn't have to cut off so.

With more confidence than skill, the golfer swung around again, leaving the ball unmoved but sending the rest of the ants to their celestial glory. That is, all except two, one of which turned to the other to say: "You know, if we want to survive, we'd better get on the ball."

It's Easy To Glamourize Towels

Glamorous towel fixtures to dress up your bathroom need not be expensive. With a little ingenuity and a few simple props, you can make your own. First, study your color scheme and the general decor, then plan the fixtures and the accessories in keeping with the theme. The Cannon Homemaking Institute offers these interesting shelf arrangements that can be made in a few hours' time.

The gilt filigree shelf, shown at the left, is made from a 4-inch strip cut from a radiator cover and gilded, then nailed to the edge of a 12" x 36" wooden shelf. The towel bar, from the dime store, is gilded to match. Similar effects can be achieved with brass moldings found at hardware or building supply stores.

The useful hanging shelf, with plenty of towel storage space, shown at the right, requires two painted shelf boards, 12" x 36", with holes bored in the corners. Five yards of nautical rope, knotted in the right places, hold the swinging shelves in place. A beribboned wire basket serves as a colored soap receptacle.

For a ranch-type home, try stirrups with leather straps as towel holders. For a gay mood, a garden trellis with rings attached gives ample place for hanging many towels.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY HISTORICAL SCRAPBOOK

Compiled from the historical records of
UNION TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY • SAN DIEGO

San Diego's first bid for international recognition—the Panama-California Exposition of 1915—enabled thousands of Southern Californians to view the Liberty Bell. This photograph, from the historical collection of Union Title Insurance and Trust Company, shows the Bell upon its arrival by special train on November 11, 1915.

Whistles and sirens of all kinds—automobile, police and boat—blew steadily for five minutes the next morning, honoring "Liberty Bell Day" at the Exposition. A Liberty Bell Queen was selected by the San Diego SUN to rule over the three-day festivities that marked the arrival of the historic bell from its conventional home in Philadelphia.

Many notable figures appeared at the Exposition, among them such personalities as Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Ford, William Jennings Bryan, and Thomas A. Edison. All paid tribute to the swiftly growing city of San Diego—population then about 56,000—just one-seventh of what it is today.

HE CAN TALK

He bid high for the parrot, and finally it was knocked down to him. Paying over his $50, he asked:

"Does this parrot talk?"

"Who do you think was bidding against you?" the parrot inquired.

Twenty New Teachers For Grove

There will be twenty new teachers in the Grove School District when school opens on September 15. Four of these positions are not yet filled, according to S. K. Sallender, Assistant Superintendent.

There is still a definite shortage of teachers for the primary grades. This condition will continue to exist so long as the birth rate remains at a high level school officials pointed out.

For the first time Lemon Grove will have a special class for mentally retarded pupils. Special classes in reading are also planned as part of the program for next year.

Former teachers and those new to the District are listed as follows:

James and Ronald Wagner Have Party-Then Leave

Twenty young guests attended a birthday party honoring the birthdate of James and Ronald Wagner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wagner, 2061 Dayton Street.

The party was also a farewell since the family will soon be leaving for a newly acquired 20-acre ranch in Dulzura.

Attending were: Patty and Mike Moser, Robert Carmel, Paul and Pamela Loeffler, Christy and Linda Staples, Danny and Julie Sanchez, Richard, Nancy and Kathy Hand, Bobby and Sharon Hodges, Ann Patterson, Phil Clegg, Denny Thorogood, Robert Krell, and naturally, the birthdayites, James and Ronald Wagner.

Rites Held For Mrs. Mary Tanner

Funeral services were held recently for Mrs. Mary Tanner 88, who died at her home 7655 Lemon Street in Lemon Grove July 20th. Services were held in St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Tanner was born in Georgetown, Washington, D. C. in 1864 and had been a resident of the Grove since 1914 after coming here from Philadelphia.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Ann Tanner and Mrs. Sue Dore, a grandson, John V. Tanner Craig, and two great grandchildren, Charlene Jon and Thomas Robert Craig, all of Lemon Grove.

The Reverend Boone Sadler assisted Rev. J. Bartlett with the services.

WILD BERRY HARVEST INSPIRES NEW RECIPES

There's nothing like the full, winy flavor of wild berries in jellies, jams, pies, cobbler, dumplings.

Even a little of the rich, tart flavor of wild blackberries will dominate when combined with domestic berries. Many wild blackberry pies are half and half. A huckleberry Kuchen with custard and meringue topping is a perfect climax for any meal.

Palmer Swistad and George Kowach, Lemon Grove builders, are showing their newest two bedroom, functional home Saturday and Sunday at 2671 Grange Street, Grange is two streets west of Imperial on Cypress.

The new home Swistad said, is designed for the average family. Under FHA loan arrangement payments will be approximately $49 plus insurance and taxes, per month.

The homes have many special features Kowach pointed out. Among them are golden oak floors, best type of floor furnace available, tile four feet over the tub, enough kitchen cabinet space to satisfy the normal family, wardrobe type closets and attractive slab doors.

Another feature, say the builders, is that the homes can be built on a 50 foot lot.

The total price is $7780 on a level lot and are so designed that they can be expanded for another bedroom at a later date. A garage is attached.

The two builders, now known as the Lemon Grove Building Co., have completed more than 50 homes in the area during the past five years.

They have lived in Lemon Grove during this time and use local help and supplies wherever possible. As local residents their designs have been the best Lemon Grove tradition for comfortable living.

In addition to new construction the firm also specializes in remodeling and operates a free advisory service in conjunction with it.

The Grange Street house will be open until dusk.

Bill's Service Gives Padres Photos

Marking the third year of operation, Bill Neibaber, operator of Bill's Service-Yourself gas service at Broadway and Mass.

chusetts announced this week that pictures of the Padres baseball team are being distributed.

Interior of Residence Wrecked by Vandals

Teens-agers are reported to have wrecked the interior of a two-story residence at 4095 Payson Drive, in American Homes tract. Neighbors heard children's voices in the place, vacant since February, and notified the owner, Harold Chaney, of 9916 Sunset Drive, La Mesa.

He found that the bathroom window had been torn open by persons who broke the furnishings, tore curtains from the windows, shattered Venetian blinds, tore a kitchen stove apart, ripped electric fixtures from the ceiling, poured paint on the floors, tore a staircase rug, ripped shelves from the walls, wrecked a mantel clock and committed other nuisances.

Grove's Adventists Collect For Medical College

Members of the La Mesa Adventist church are joining nearly 3,000 Adventist congregations in North America Saturday morning, August 9, in a special offering to help meet the annual seven million dollar budget of the denomination's College of Medical Evangelists, according to Willis L. Hyatt, pastor.

The medical educational center is composed of eight professional schools and is approved by the American Medical Association. Since the institution was founded by the denomination in 1906 it has graduated more than 4,500 physicians, nurses, dietitians, and medical technicians.

In addition to the school, the College of Medical Evangelists includes the White Memorial Hospital, of Los Angeles, and the Loma Linda Sanitarium and Hospital. These institutions have a combined patient capacity of approximately 400. Many graduates are serving in the 161 Adventist hospitals and clinics around the world. Many C. M. E. graduates are carrying on self-supporting missionary enterprises in overseas outposts.

The medical center's $5,865,000 expansion program will be discussed along with its present capacity for service.

Swimming and diving stars competing at Mission Beach plunge in the annual Fiestabaha Swimming and Diving Championships conducted by the San Diego Park and Recreation Department on August 15 and 16 will have to share billing with a water show this year.

The San Diego Swimming Association's Aqua Capers ensemble which appeared last weekend as the entertainment feature of the Navy Relief Carnival, offers a return performance in its home pool with exhibition diving and the famed Dillie Dillies as added attractions. Veteran's of several dozen appearances over the past two years at swim meets, water shows and before large conventions and benefits, the Aqua Capers girls are now rated the equal of the most highly trained synchronized swimmers and paddleboard ballet performers in the country.

Congregational's Scovel Completes Missionary Tour

Miss Gertrude Scovel, Director of Religious Education of the Congregational Church returned this week from a month's work tour of the church's missionary posts in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. The young people under Miss Scovel's leadership were Kay Drag of San Diego; Gordon Niedringhaus, Santa Ana; Sue Moseley, Pasadena; Merle Smith, Sierra Madre; and Neill Richards of Phoenix, Arizona.

The work caravan's expenses is financed through the treasury of the Young Peoples division of the Congregational Conference of Southern California and the South West and those who participated experienced a full program to worship, work, recreation and travel with the people of the communities which they visited.

Their first stop was at the Pilgrim Congregational Church at El Paso, Texas where they did considerable landscape work and refitting of the building.

After leaving El Paso they spent a week at the Thunderbird Camp near Santa Rita, New Mexico, on construction and general cleanup work, then on to Grants, New Mexico where they spent a week refitting the interior of the Congregational Church there.

The group visited Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam on the way home.

OREGON'S LOST CORNER IS PICTURESQUE LAND

Down in Oregon's southeast corner is an almost forgotten piece of land. Dominated by Steens mountain, this is good exploration country for fishing, hunting, camping. It's a picturesque land, too. The Basque sheepherders have left an in-delible imprint—their food is still served in the small town restaurants, the native tongue is still spoken, and shepherds' tents still dot the meadowlands. This country can be sampled in a single-day detour from a north-south or east-west trip, but most families won't regret a two or three day slow-speed exploring tour.

In conjunction with the Annual Flower Show, the La Mesa Foothills Art Association will again hold an exhibit on the La Mesa Elementary School grounds on Saturday and Sunday, August 16-17. Many members will exhibit one painting each, and the native tongue is asked to vote one the still spoken, and shepherds' picture they like best. ## Navy Relief Game At Balboa Stadium Friday

Eyes of football fans the nation over will be on San Diego Friday night when the World's Champion L. A. Rams tangle with two rugged Navy eleven at Balboa Stadium in the second annual Navy Relief classic.

Tay Brown's Naval Training Center gridders, designated to play the first half against the Rams, look especially fit. The coaching staff finds it hard to conceal elation at the way the big Blue and Gold team is shaping up. Line action is in mid-season form. Holes are opened for the ball carriers and on defense the tackling is fast and sure. As a whole the team has a wealth of power, speed, weight and depth.

Pre-game and halftime entertainment offers three military bands vying with each other in presentation of unique and colorful shows.

Ticket sales have passed the eight thousand mark with indications of a near-capacity crowd. For the public's convenience tickets are on sale at every San Diego Fire Station.

Bill Sez

Many years ago I took a driving lesson from a nationally famous stock car driver, either Barney Oldfield or Cannon Ball Baker. In addition to some very sound advice on driving, I got a suggestion for pedestrians which I have never forgotten. It is especially good advice right now for every one in California. Here it is: ...

"Always remember that YOU can stop a lot quicker than an automobile. If you see a car coming, — and you are at the curb — remember that the driver DOES NOT KNOW WHAT YOU INTEND TO DO. WHY NOT LET HIM KNOW? If you are NOT going to step into the street, give him the WAVE OF COURTESY, a simple movement of the arm, waving him on. BUT, never do this if there are other people standing near you. They may have other plans. If the only other person near you is WITH you, take hold of him by the arm or clothing, and then give the WAVE OF COURTESY"

Re the Proposed Annexation to the Lemon Grove Sanitation District
RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO ANNEX UNINCORPORATED TERRITORY TO THE LEMON GROVE SANITATION DISTRICT AND NOTICE OF HEARING THEREON

On motion of Supervisor Robbins, seconded by Supervisor Rossi, the following resolution is adopted and notice is ordered by the Board of Supervisors of San Diego County:

WHEREAS, Grace Cardosa and others the owners of certain property in unincorporated territory of the County of San Diego contiguous to the Lemon Grove Sanitation District, have asked this Board (Document No. 141242) to annex said property to said Sanitation District under the provisions of the County Sanitation District Act, and

WHEREAS, the County Boundary Commission has approved the boundaries of the proposed annexation (Document No. 141591); and

WHEREAS, investigation of the proposed annexation by the Department of Engineering of the County of San Diego discloses that said property is contiguous to said Sanitation District and that it would be desirable and feasible to sewer said property by extension of said District's lines (Document No. 141242); NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED:

(a) That it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego to annex to the Lemon Grove Sanitation District under the provisions of the County Sanitation District Act all of that contiguous unincorporated territory of the County of San Diego, none of which is now included in any other county sanitation district or districts formed for similar purposes, bounded and described as follows:

(b) All that portion of the unincorporated territory of the County of San Diego, lying within the following described boundary line:

1. Commencing at a point in the Northern line of Lot 12 of Moody's South Addition to Lemon Grove, according to Map thereof No. 1290, Records of San Diego County, distant thereon 200 feet Easterly from the Northwest corner thereof, said point being a point in the boundary line of the Lemon Grove Sanitation District;

2. thence Southerly along a line parallel with the Westerly line of Lots 12, 13, 14 and 15 of said Moody's South Addition to Lemon Grove, and the Southerly prolongation thereof to an intersection with the boundary line of the City of San Diego;

3. thence Westerly along said boundary line of the City of San Diego to the Southwest corner of Rembrandt Block 29 and a portion of Blocks 27, 28 and 30 of Monterey Heights, according to Map thereof No. 2393, Records of San Diego County;

4. thence Northerly along the Westerly line of said Rembrandt Block 30 of Monterey Heights Map No. 1966, to an intersection with the Southerly line of Lansing Drive said intersection being a point in the boundary line of the Lemon Grove Sanitation District;

5. thence Easterly, Southerly and Easterly along said boundary line of the Lemon Grove Sanitation District to the point of commencement;

(c) That said Sanitation District following said annexation shall continue to be known by that name;

(d) That the Board of Supervisors hereby sets Tuesday, the 19th day of August, 1952, at the hour of 10:30 o'clock, a. m. in the Chamber of the Board of Supervisors, Room 310 San Diego City and County Administration Building, Civic Center, San Diego, California, as the time and place fixed for the hearing of objections to said annexation of said territory to said District, or to the extent thereof.

(e) That the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors is hereby authorized and instructed to publish this resolution of intention and notice of hearing thereon at length in at least two successive issues not more than 30 nor less than 10 days prior to the time of said hearing in the Lemon Grove Review, a newspaper of general circulation in the County of San Diego, in the territory proposed to be annexed, and in said Sanitation District, PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego, State of California, this 15th day of July, 1952, by the following vote:

A note of thanks was received this week by Steve Westover, local businessman and well known hobby painter, from Ruth Ramsdell Pedler, librarian of the Lemon Grove library.

Westover had several of his paintings hung in the library which drew much favorable comment. Mrs. Pedler said that his pictures had "evoked more comment than any other (painter) and the comment had all been favorable." Children, she added, were particularly drawn to the market.

In less than seven months, the chemical polyelectrolyte, the base for all these soil conditioners, has changed from a cautious news item to labeled packages on garden store shelves. Already there is considerable controversy—especially among companies distributing the product—on what the chemical will and will not do for the soil.

It seems probable that this material will take its place in gardening along with DDT and other wonder products and it is too good to be ruined by the impossible claims that some promoters have been making for it.

Although these chemicals are not a cure-all for all soil problems, user gives them enthu-sastic support as good stabilizers of cultivated heavy clay or adobe soils. The dry crystal or flake form seems to work better than the liquid, but must be well mixed in the soil to be effective.
